BULL TOSSES MATADOR

El Paso, Tex., March 31.—The usual Sunday bull fight at Juarez, Mexico, was accompanied by a somewhat unusual feature, the goaded animal turning the tables on the matador. Several bulls had been brought into the arena, but the amusement they furnished was rather tame from a Mexican standpoint. There were many Americans among the spectators who were somewhat disgusted with the brutal show, as horse after horse was gored by the tormented bulls, while the placid and matadors escaped unscathed.

This was all changed, however, when Jarillo, the premier matador was preparing to thrust his long double-edged sword into the heart of the fifth bull which had faced him. It stood in the center of the arena, bleeding from many wounds. Suddenly the bull made a quick lunge for the fighter. So unexpected was the attack that the fighter was unable to make the customary side step. He was caught on the bull's horns in the middle of the body and tossed about like a toy balloon. Before he could be rescued Jarillo's clothing was literally stripped from his body and his right leg and hip were severely lacerated. It will probably prove his last bull fight, as it is not thought that he will be able to step into the ring again as a matador.

As the bull tossed the man high in air, receiving his body on its horns, only to again toss it up, the Americans among the spectators cheered the animal loudly, which called forth a storm of hisses from the Mexicans present, and for a time it looked as though there would be a collision between the two races.

MAJOR WALLER TESTIFIES

Manila, March 31.—Major Littleton W. T. Waller of the Marine Corps testified in his own behalf today at his trial by court martial on the charge of killing natives of the island of Samar without trial. He graphically described the hardships the marines endured owing to the treachery of the natives and the attempted robbery of arms and said he was not aware that the guide, Victor, was a notorious and infamous insurgent captain who had led insurgents at Basy and Balangiga, otherwise he would not have allowed Victor to go with the party.

The Major also said he carried out General Smith's orders entirely and never went beyond them, except in the last paragraph of the order, which he based on taking command of the marines, calling on the latter to avenge the slaughter at Balangiga of their comrades of the Ninth Infantry in the Chinese expedition.

CAUGHT WRONG MAN.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 30.—Chief Detective Crowley of the Southern Pacific tonight went into the moonshiners' stronghold, the Ozark Mountains, and, after a clever and daring bit of work, placed under arrest a man whom he supposed to be the noted Joe George, who, with Green, held up the Southern Pacific mail in January, 1895, at Wilcox, Ariz., and robbed the strong box of $3000.

Chief Crowley has been on the track of Joe George for seven years, and during the last two weeks has been among the Ozark Mountains here disguised as a miner. When he got his prisoner into the light after the capture tonight no marks remained, even to the amputation of the forefinger. But the nose of George, the desperado, is flattened against his face, while that of the Arkansas moonshiner is perfectly aquiline. Both Georges have lived in Arizona and have sisters in El Paso. This state of affairs led to the mixing of the identities of the two men. Crowley leaves for San Francisco tomorrow.

Shipyards to Resume.

Enrica, March 31.—J. C. Ball, president of the Bendix Shipbuilding Company of this city, returned Saturday from San Francisco, where he engaged Mr. Russell, ex-foreman of the Boole shipyards at Alameda, to take the management of the plant on the peninsula. The Bendix yards have been idle since January 1st. Ball says operations will begin April 15th with a full complement of men.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

A WEAK BACK.

Some people suffer from this ailment nearly all their lives. They are nervous and despondent through loss of sleep. The fact is their kidneys are weak and are unable to perform their proper functions. The best medicine to strengthen the kidneys, stimulate the liver and cure indigestion, dyspepsia, nervousness or malaria, fever and ague, is

TO PLACE A PIANO

"A piano," said a dealer, "will count better standing directly on the floor and in a room simply furnished than it will standing on a carpet in a room elaborately furnished, having heavy hangings on the walls, and so on."

"Sometimes a piano will develop, or seem to develop, a flaw in some one note, which comes to have a rattle, or jingle, or unpleasant buzz to it. But this jarring sound, which seems to come from the piano, may in reality come from some source quite outside of it."

"Any given note, when struck, produces a certain number of vibrations to the second. There may be in the room some object that is in tone sympathy with some particular note, and that will be set in motion by it when that note is sounded."

"The owner of a fine piano sent to us one day to say that the piano was something wrong about a certain note of the instrument, so that that note had an unpleasant sound when struck. When I heard the note sounded I knew at once that the disagreeable roughness or buzz about it was due to a tiny defect in the piano, but to something some where about in the room; and, asking the lady to strike that note occasionally, I walked around the room to see if I could locate it."

"Passing across the middle of the room, as that note was struck, the cause of the jarring accompaniment of it was discovered to come from the vibration of one of the glass globes on the chandelier overhead."

"The owner of the piano was almost incredulous as to this, the sound and seemed so plainly to come from the piano itself. But when, at my request, she stood under the chandelier and I struck the note, she was readily convinced."

"I made the globe immovable, and then struck the note on the piano. The answer was clear and sweet and true. 'So, you see, the sound of a piano may for one thing depend much upon its surroundings; and what may seem to be a defect in a piano may be in reality attributable to something quite apart from the piano itself.'"

"And thus it might easily be that some noble instrument that had seemed to be declining, or to be developing malady, owed its apparent change to a change of environment, or to some specific outside cause, and was in reality as good as ever, as would happily be discovered whenever the instrument was again brought under favorable conditions."—Philadelphia Telegram.

SHUT OUT NEGRO VOTE

Richmond, Va., March 29.—A suffrage plan has been agreed upon by the Constitutional Convention of Virginia under which it is expected the negro vote will be practically eliminated. It provides that voters shall pay a poll tax of $1.50, shall be able to read or to understand when read to the constitution of the State, and shall be able to make application for the right to register in their own hand writing in the presence of the registrar.

"The 'understanding' clause is only to be in effect until January 1, 1904. The other features are permanent. Confederate soldiers and their sons are exempt from the understanding and application clause."

LOVE LEADS TO DEATH

New York, March 30.—Corleas was the scene of a double tragedy last night, when Ida Klobcek, a Hebrew dressmaker of this city, probably 25 years old, was shot and killed by Sigmund Blanc, a cigar maker of 26, formerly of Philadelphia, who then turned the revolver on himself. They had known each other in Poland, where he had courted her. Blanc continued his attentions after they arrived in this country, and last week she told her parents he wanted to marry her and had said he was making $18 a week. Ida said she did not believe it, and last week asked him to bring his pay envelope to her Saturday night, saying she would consent to marry him if it contained that amount. Blanc's shopmates said he worked extra hard last week, but did not make more than $9.

He and the girl went walking last evening. It is believed that when they reached Corleas Park, Blanc, in despair at not being able to show that he had been able to comply with the terms she insisted on, killed her and then himself. Before the shooting the couple were seen seated on a park bench. A policeman saw the man place the revolver to the woman's head. She made no resistance, and from this fact it is the theory of the police that the murder and suicide had been planned by the two.

SHAW VISITS WALL STREET

New York, March 29.—Leslie M. Shaw, Secretary of the Treasury, spent the morning visiting in Wall street, and was extremely careful about being interviewed. In fact, his reserve bordered on precaution.

"Yes; I have been to Ellis Island," he said. "You may say that I went there yesterday. Was I satisfied with what I saw? I can hardly say I was. That would be too much commendation. Was I dissatisfied? Well, I can hardly say that. It would be too great criticism. I simply saw things, so that when I am approached in the future on the condition of the island, I shall know something about it."

"But today I am just meeting people. I want to know bankers. I would like to know every one of them in the country. I wish they would come to see me whenever they have the chance."

Mr. Shaw smiled when asked concerning the report that Treasury officials had admitted that the discontinuance of purchases of bonds by the Government had proved a success. He declared he had no idea who had made the statement, and said his own policy would not be formed until that of Congress had been more clearly indicated than it is at present.

INSPECTING THE BAGGAGE.

New York, March 30.—A special to the Sun from Washington says: Secretary Shaw expects to issue some time this week certain modifications of the rules relating to the examination of passengers' baggage by the customs officers at New York. He has been impressed by two facts in connection with the subject—first, that the amount of dutiable merchandise landed at New York in passengers' trunks is much larger than is commonly supposed, and, second, that the system of inspection inaugurated a year ago has increased the revenue from this source enormously. Shaw hopes, however, to be able in the near future to promulgate some modification of the baggage inspection system, with the specific purpose of avoiding unnecessary delays in examination and of reducing to a minimum the sources of annoyance to passengers.

SEATTLE BEER.

The ever popular Rainer Beer is just as much a favorite as ever. It is on draught at the New Criterion Saloon as it was at the old. The longer it is used the better it is liked.

NEW PLAN OF SANTOS-DUMONT

New York, March 31.—A cable to the Sun from London says: The latest report in regard to the projects of Santos-Dumont, the Brazilian aeronaut, is that he proposes to explore points on Mont Blanc at a height never before attained by a balloon.
